COMMENT OF THE DAY Grievances

T is not easy, from this dis-tance, to judge with ac-curacy the success of the campaign which the Kenya Mau secret society, although it is encouraging to note that substantial numbers of these terrorists and their followers are being rounded up. Notwithstanding, the forcible initiation into the dreaded order continues and there appears to be no appreciable slackening of the Mau Mau's intimidatory activities. Mr Oliver Lyttelton's full report on his factfinding tour of Kenya has not yet been disclosed, and it is not possible to know whether he is completely satisfied either with the measures being adopted by the local Authorities for the eradication of Mau Mauism, or their proposals (if any) for remedying the legitimate grievances of the Kikuyus in Kenya. The Secretary of State for the Colonies refuses to recognise the Mau Mau as reprepolitical or social. In this he is justified, and he is not overstating the case when he describes these ter- grabbed guns and opened fire rorists as being "the enemy on the Africans, who fled, Kenya Incidents: New English Gil.

Nairobi, Nov. 14.

A 21-year-old English girl, Miss B. Barclay, was shot and wounded tonight by three Africans, whom she challenged on the verandah of a European house at Nyeri.

Miss Barclay, daughter of Hugh Barclay, a well-known British farmer of Mennegai, near Nakuru, was staying at the house, the police reported.

She saw the three Africans sneaking out of a bedroom, when she stepped out on the verandah.

One of the Africans shot Miss Barclay in the shoulder and she dashed into the bedroom despite her condition to pick up a pistol and open fire on the Africans.

Accepts Court Ruling

Odendaalsrust, Nov. 14. South Africa's Prime Minister, Dr Daniel Malan, said here tonight that his government would accept the Appeal, Court's ruling yesterday that the new "High Court of Parliament" was invalid.

Dr Malan told a public meeting here that next year's general election would be held with Cape coloured voters on the common roll.

But he said the matter would the taken to a higher appeal—in April next year-when the general election would be held. The electorate would be asked to give the government a mandate to take steps to place the sovereignty of parliament beyond doubt.

The precise nature of these steps, he said, would be announced later.

Dr Malon sold the parliamentary session due to begin on January 23 would be short. Then, the desirability of having a sovereign parliament free from interference, from the courts could be placed before the people.

If the government was returned to power it would take parliament beyond any doubt.

FIRST DUTY

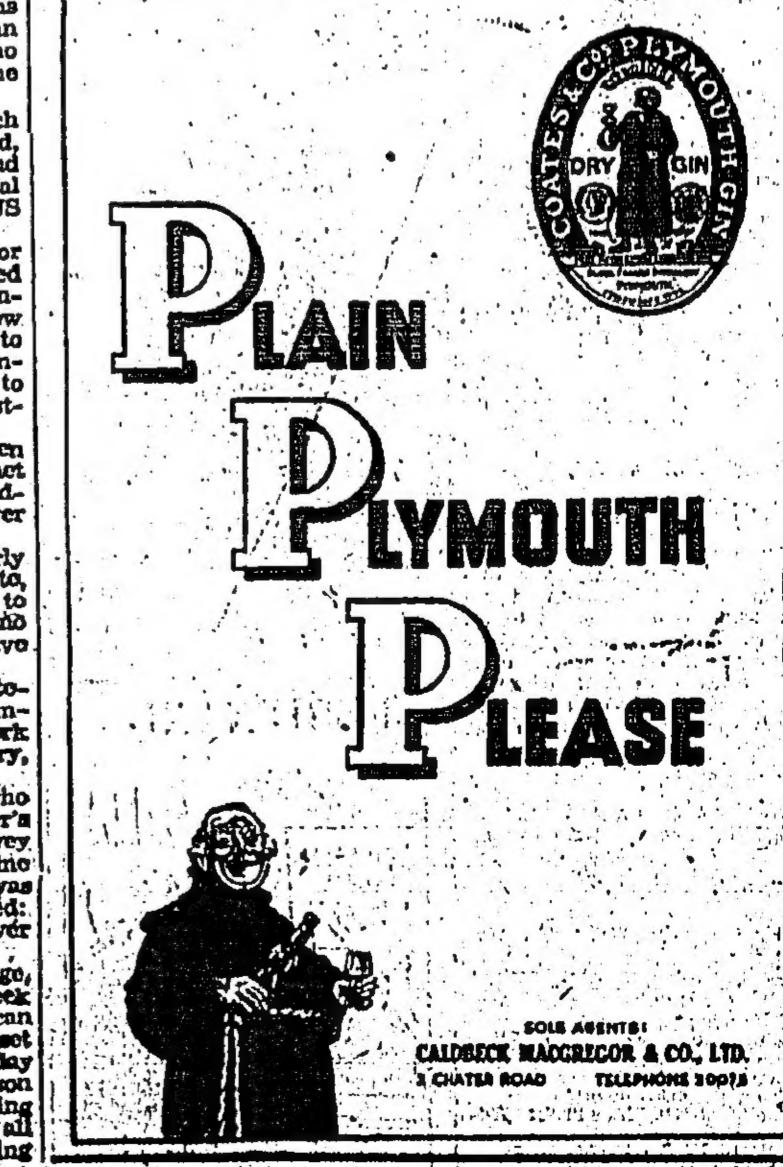

Referring to the rioting by Africans recently, Dr Malan said the first duty of the government and to protect life and property. The "government" would continue to do so. It had resources at its disposal for this and the public had no need for anxiety. Lorries, Bus & Ordinarily the African population of South Africa was peaceful and law abiding. NEGUIB answers THE EX-KING

All night we debated SHALL WE

HEBUIB

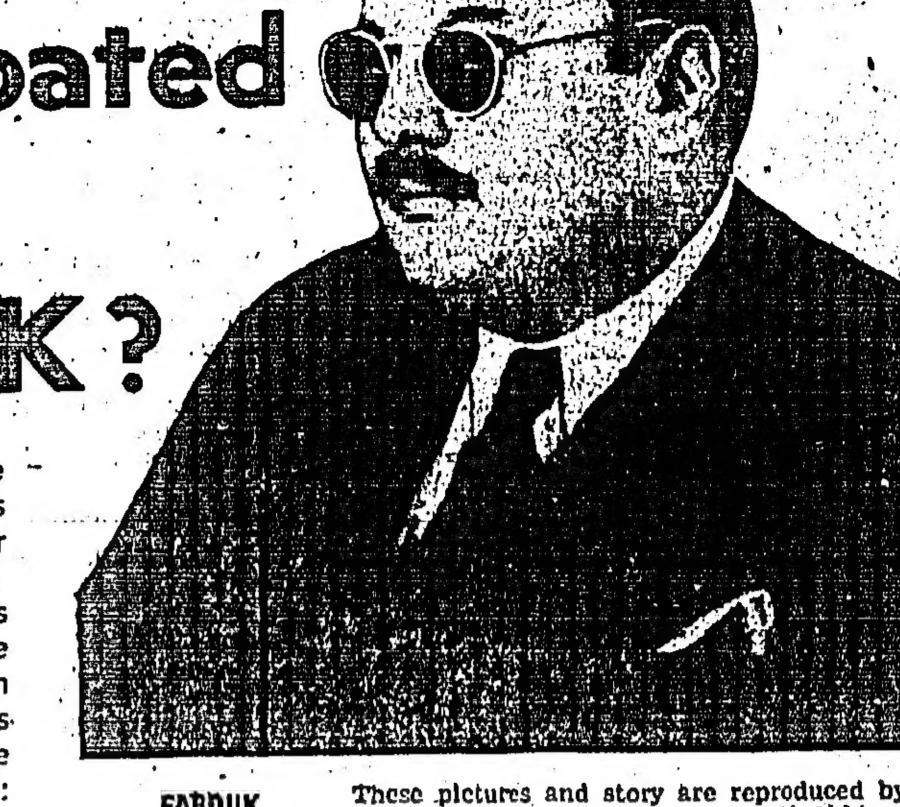

SHOOT FAROUK?

THIS IS THE REPLY of Mohammed Neguib, Premier of Egypt, to Farouk, the king he sacked. He challenges the accuracy of Farouk's story of his fateful last days as monarch.

Farouk declares that only U.S. intervention saved his life, and that a secret "politburo" financed by the Soviet dethroned him. Neguib replies that Farouk was exiled by officers of his army. As for U.S. intervention saving him—that is a lie. To prove this Neguib has now released his personal diary of the abdication for publication.

It is a compelling document, as dramatic as the coup itself. One passage alone will ensure it a place in the history of our times-Neguib's coldly graphic description of how the leaders debated through the night: Shall Farouk live or die?

adapting men's styles for women. Latest in the long line of adaptations (remember the Edwardian * masher jacket, and the Eton collar of a year ago?) is the use of -pin-striped and pin-checked poplin shirting for afternoon dresses. It was shown -at a parade recently-in a variety of styles, including a wing-collared, full skirted dress with long sleeves, finished of course in the authentic manner. with trubenised cuffs and cuff-

In colours, the trend is away from the dark "jungle" prints so popular in the last four years. Emphasis is now on jewel colours, on dusky plnk, sky blue and lemon yellow. Smartest dress in the show was in charcoal grey denim, full skirted, worn over a stiff petticoat and trimmed with a fresh white pique collar.

Denim was dressed up for town in a variety of ways. Other styles had red piping round the mandarin collar, belt and cuff. As for styles, the strapless sun-top is out. For sun-bathing, the important style is now the halter-top. Day dresses showed two styles of neckline-a high, winged collar, and, contrasting with this, a "boat" neckline just fitting on the shoulders.

Amongst the newest cotton finishes are cotton spun like worsted, cotton embossed like a doyley or a 'superior quality wallpaper, and cotton with salin-sheen.

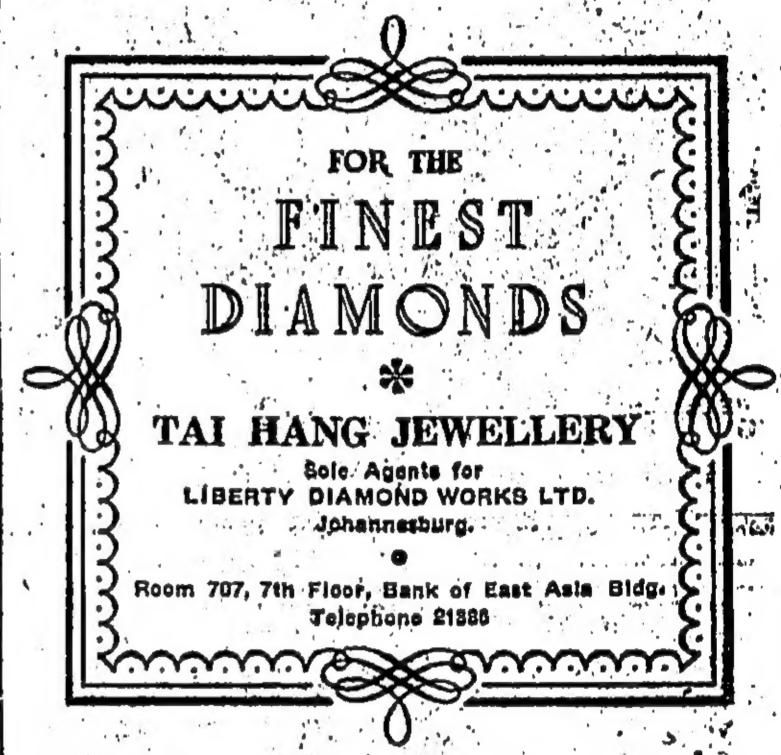

New Fashion for the Queen What happens when the Queen veers away, from her traditional evening wear of crinoline dresses?

It sets the fashion world talking—se it did recently ofter the Royal Film Performance when the Queen wore an unusual "magpie" dress. This had a white satin front, black satin back, and a V-neckline (new for evening).

That imitations would appear was expected, so it did not surprise that within 48-hours a London dress manufacturer announced: "Of course, we can't copy it exactly, but we are putting a similar style into production right away; it should be ready by December."

NE of the breeziest cookbooks in many a year starts off with the comment that "it's just as important for men to know how to cook as it is for women."

The book, written by restaurant man, is designed for males who want to do serious cooking instead of kitchen putter-don't mean that a man has to know how to bake a cake," said the author, Victor Bergeron, "although it wouldn't hurt him. But he should know how to roast meat, cook a steak, make a salad, and get a few good meals together."

Bergeron, better known as Trader Vic, operator of restaurants in Oakland and San Francisco, wades deep into the subject of men and meals.

Omelette "21"

"A few men are born cooks," he decided. "Some get that way from exposure, to the art at an early age. Sometimes, however, it all starts from a trip to the grocery to buy a loaf of bread and a pound of

On such a trip, through today's supermarkets, Bergeron said, the husband is likely to indulge in a buying orgy and come home loaded with "gastronomical fripperies" that result-in his deciding to become latter section includes from New recipes York's "21" restaurant. One is omelette "21," made this way: Beat two eggs well. Put 1 tenspoon of butter in a flat When the pan is very hot, put the eggs in. Place some finely chopped creamed chicken in the omelette before rolling. Roll and place on a Top with 1 tablespoon Mornay Sauce and grated Parmesan choese. Place under the salamander until browned. Serve very hot.

Potato Skins

Some of Trader Vic's recipes require a little searching for the fancy ingredients; others are easily adapted to most kitchens. Take this one for baked potatoes served with cheese sauce.

Scoop some soft Cheddar cheese into a little cream and butter and melt over hot water to taste with mustard, sait and pepper, and a dash of A-1 When smooth and add chopped green onions. The sauce should be rather thin. Open the potatoes already baked, of course by making a cross into the top with a knife and squeeze so the insides bulge out. Pour the cheese sauce over the whole

Evening gloves and smart shoulder bag with that custom-made touch...easy to make, glamorous to wear.

Clutch bag and compact—perfect evening accessories.

MAKE YOUR OWN ACCESSORIES

BY MARILYN MARSHALL

INISTINCTIVE accessories can add to any costume the magic touch that crosses the line between being merely, "nicely dressed" and being "smartly dressed". All it takes to lend real glamour to your entire school wardrobe is a little know-how, a few scraps of material and a few items from any notions counter - all well within the range of stringent school-day allowances.

Let's say, for instance, that you want a new evening bag. With two velvetcovered sequin-decorated cover-your-own buttons, a yard of narrow velvet ribbon and a 54" long chain, an ordinary evening purse can be converted into the expensive-looking shoulder bag illustrated at left.

o Take an evening bag approximately 41/2" x 81/4". Cover 2 round buttons (size 45 ligne) with a coral velvet ribbon or fabric. following directions on card. Sew buttons to the lower edge of the face of the bag. Decorate each button by sewing a sequin flower to the centre of each.

Double a strip of coral velvet ribbon 29" long and 1/2" wide. Loop the ribbon around one button. Draw under the bag and over to top edge, down the front, and secure beneath the other button as shown in figure 1.

Buy a chain 54" long with links that · will spread apart. Slide the chain between the cover and lining along the upper edge of the bag. With pliers open a link and join the two ends of chain to form a shoulder

On party nights, a pair of elbow-length gloves with a custom-made look will add to the glamour of the occasion. To make a pair like those illustrated at left, simply sew three white lace daisies to the front of each glove, close to the upper edge.

Cover 3 rounded buttons (size 24 ligne) with a delicate pink velvet fabric, ribbon, following directions on the card. Sew a button in the centre of each daisy, adding a tiny pale pink bead in the exact centre to finish.

You now have a custom touch which you yourself have made with a very little effort but great cleverness.

Another delightful accessory you can make yourself is the reversible clutch bag; pictured at left. Pretty and practical, you can make it by hand without sewing a

HERE'S HOW:

Cut 2 pieces of felt, using the diaof blue and the other white, or whatever you prefer. Place the two pieces together and fold on the dotted line as shown in Figure 2.

Cover 2 buttons (size 86 "ligne and 45 ligne) with a purple wool jersey fabric. Cut a felt flower in a shocking pink colour and sew to the top of each button. Decorate each button by sewing sequins, pearls, bugle beads and stars of various colours to the felt flower top on the buttons. With a sharp razor, cut slits for button holes, following diagram for placement. Cut a 31/4" x 1/4" felt arrow in a shocking pink colour. Decorate as you did the buttons. Pin your buttons to the bag. Your bag is completely reversible. Unpin the buttons and change to the white side and you have a complete change of colour.

Tucked within your smart purse, you'll want a compact that's something special. An inexpensive, gold-finished compact with a flat, smooth cover can be turned into an enviable conversation piece by just using bits of coloured felt, buttons

THIS IS THE WAY YOU DO IT:

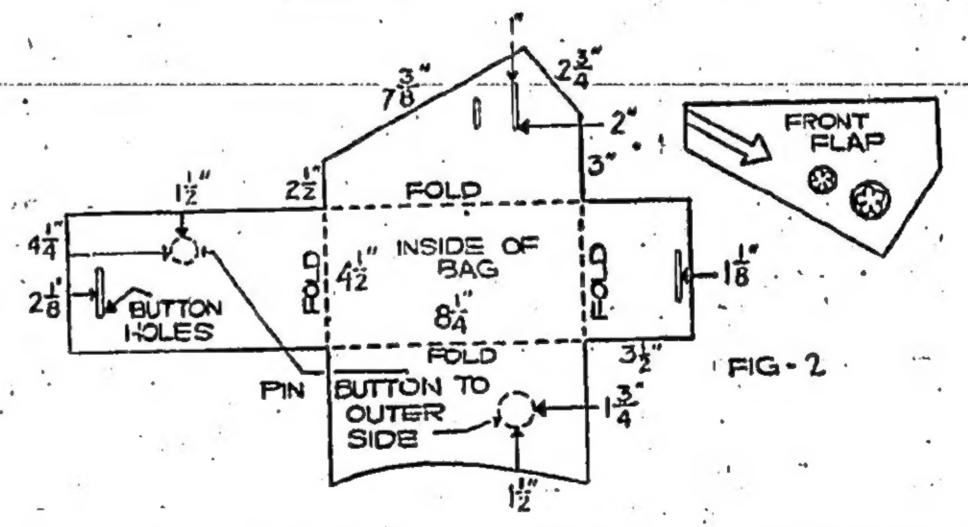

Purchase a compact 2-3/7" x 23/4" with a smooth flat top. Cover three rounded buttons (size 24) with purple jersey. Sew eight varied coloured seguin stars overlapping at times to the top of the buttons, placing a tiny bead in the centre of each star to hold it in place. The more colours you use the more interesting the effect.

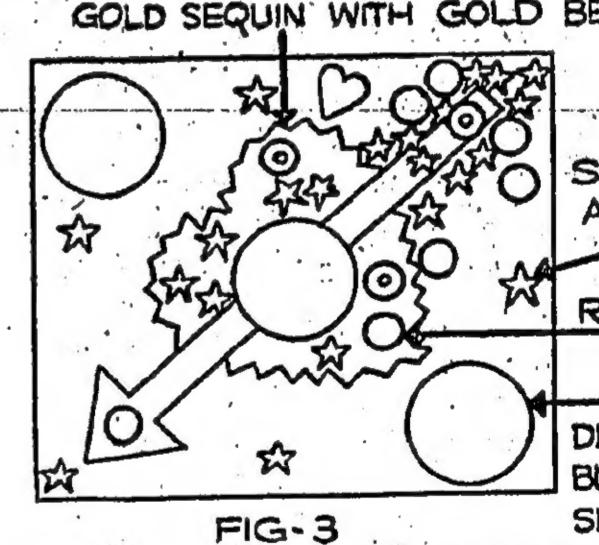

Cut a shocking pink colour felt heart 176" with your pinking shears. Sew stars, rhinestones, amber beads, gold beads, bugle beads to the heart, following the figure below, to gally decorate. Cut a.234" shocking pink arrow with regular shears. Place the arrow across the centre of the heart and one of the buttons, and sew together. With cement, cement the felt heart and arrow to the flat surface of the complet as shown in Figure 3.

Now drop a dab of cement on the right upper corner and have fun cementing stars, circles and hearts directly to the compact. Scatter a few as shown in the figure, and a distinctive compact has

It doesn't take a mathematician to know that the old classic lines plus a new fashion angle adds up to an outfit with just the right slant on things. For the ever-popular sweater and skirt combination, a felt neckpiece may be the "something new" you're seeking. Just cut a strip of red felt, 35 inches long and half an inch wide, to start with. After you've coated the backs of four flat size 36 ligne and four 30 ligne buttons with nail polish, cover them in purple jersey. Fold the felt strip in half, fastening the buttons and two fluffy red wool tassles to the ends where they can dangle merrily. Wear it knotted or bowed on your sweater or jersey dress, loop it over your belt, tie it around your chignon or pony tail.

His luminous survey of political thought, stretching from Plato Matthew Arnold, takes on eloquence touched with something like indignation in chapter devoted to the British rule in India.

It is an aside. It is not an irrelevance. It opens with two of Radeliffe's most pungent sentences:

"The British have formed the habit of praising their institutions, which are sometimes inept, and of ignoring the character of their race, which is often superb. In the end, they will be in danger of losing their character and bring left with their institutions: a result disastrous indeed."

The record of the British at work in India, is for Lord Radcliffe "a classic example of

The position I left you with last week is by no means an easy one, but it does give the player an opportunity to build up small break, providing he tackles it with confidence.

If this position confronted me, would pot the red nearest to the bottom cushlon into the bottom-right-hand corner pocket as shown. In doing so I would crew the eug-bell with plenty o" left-hand (running) side to try to get in between the righthand side cushlon and the red ball situated a little cut from that cushlon.

.The eue-ball would knock the lower red out into the open and then rebound on to the red lying. hard against the right side cushion, knocking it over right-hand middle pocket. The cue-ball has now come to rest in position marked XI for a .favpurable por on the blue into the outfit tomorrow morning. left-hand middle pocket.

Obviously, a gentle stroke on the blue would leave the cueball in position merked X2 for the easy red into the right-hand middle pocket, but we must not forget that there is another red ball left on the table and when pocketing the easy red that hangs over the centre pocket would play the cue-ball very low to screw away from the cushion and gain correct angle on the blue (X3). At the same time I would ensure that after playing the blue I would be left in a good position for the last remaining red.

blue into the left-hand middle pocket with a slow screw shot. which will bring the cue-ball into position marked X4 for potting the last red into the righthand middle pocket.

The last red is played with the cue-ball running through gently to secure unother good angle on the blue-position marked X5. From here I would pot the blue and allow the cue-ball to strike the left-hand side cushion and come to rest somewhere near the top cushion for perfect position on the yellow, marked X6.

CLEARING THE TABLE

In potting the yellow I would have to use as much runningside as possible to bring the cueball sharply off the top righthand side cushion to make an easy pot on the green into the left-hand middle pocket (X7) The cue-ball, after striking the green, would confact the bottom left-hand side cushion to give me a favourable position for potting the brown into the botcom right-hand corner pocket

When potting the brown would strike the cue-ball low and if managed at the correct speed a perfect angle should result for the blue to be 'cleared into the left-hand middle pocket (X9). The cue-ball should run through for the pink to be potted into the top right-hand corner pocket from position X10. This stroke should be quite a normal run through in order to clear the black into the top left-hand corner pocket (X11).

These can be transplanted inthe spring to an outdoor bed or a window box. A window box should have good drainage and be filled, with enriched florists' potting soil or its equivalent. den book on sale at the South China Morning Post. It costs $3 and contains six packets of seeds. With coloured pictures and simple instructions, you will learn how to sow and care for the young plants. These seeds have all been tested in Hongkong tool

Oranges and many other trees can be grown here in pots from seed. They should be kept moist until they sprout and come up. Then water as needed. They can be left in the pots until they are a foot or more high.

In transplanting them outdoors, cut the can down two sides with tin shears and remove all the soil along with the trees so as not to disturb the roots. Then after resetting, keep them moist until thoroughly established in their new location The holes should be dug deep enough so that basins can be formed around the trees for watering. These trees are called seedlings.

One autumn I planted six vild plum seeds in six pots. After watering them faithfully for months and waiting for them to come up, I finally gave them up as dead. But one April morning, there were the six little plum trees all up!

Knowing Partner Will Help Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY

COME bids are too delicate to be used with the average partner. Save them for your expert partner, but make things as easy as possible for the partners you usually get.

In the hand shown today, South was a very well-known expert, but his partner was an equally well-known palooka. South could hardly afford to let the opponents play the hand at three clubs, (which they could have made), but it was foolish of him to experiment with a bid of three diamonds.

An expert North would have realised that the bid of three offer and not a firm commitment. South had already passed at two Hearts, and was therefore sure to have some satisfactory holding in hearts.

South's only point in bidding Macassar, Surabala. Bemarang, the diamonds was to discover whether or not the diamonds were better than the hearts. North was expected to bid three hearts unless he had an excellent fit for dlamonds.

> Unfortunately, North knew nothing about such refinements. He had already bid his hearts

The result at three diamonds was very sad indeed. West led the jack of spades, dummy covered with the king, and East won with the ace. East switched to clubs, giving his partner two tricks in that suit.

BORN today, you have been blessed with a high degree of natural as well as the patience and perseverance to push your objective to a successful conclusion. This is a combination which should bring you to an early success. You are not, perhaps, the flashy type, but you work diligently. You are the type so often called the "backbone of a nation!" You accomplish what you set out to do and are a fine example to others.

You are rather rathring and are not one to take advantage of anyone. You dislike show of any kind and believe that the simple things in life are truly the best. Your patience at times, becomes a fault. You believe that everything eventually comes to him who walls for it. But you must also learn to recognize an opportunity. Or, it one doesn't turn up on your doorstep, learn to go out hunting for it. Show a little more initiative or you may discover that you are sugging along in a pleasant growe of mediocrity. It may seem satisfying, but, as you get older, you will look back on lost chances for advancement. Remember that crying over split milk does very little good!

You have a home-loving and affectionate nature. You would probably do well to wed early in life, for your own family and home will bring you the greatest happiness. You men, too, will find that having responsibilities serves as an inspiration and gives you an added incentive to do your best work at all times.

Born today, you are something of an individualist and are not inclined to accept the conventional answers as a solution to any problem. You are interested in the troubles of all mankind and want to do something constructive about them. You also have a keen interest in the natural sciences. Your speaking voice is good and you know how to address yourself to the general public. You would be a valuable asset to any philanthropic cause, for you would be able to enlist sympathy, as well as donations.

Your ideals are high but you are apt to do a lot of daydreaming. Your ideals are high but you are apt to do a lot of daydreaming. Your talents are spread over a wide field and you have a keen interest in many subjects. You will find that you are more effective if you concentrate on one thing at a time rather than spread your interests and your energies over too broad a field. You are interested in the mysterious and the occult and may yourself have some powers in this direction. Be cautious in the use you make of these gifts, since your influence over others is strong! Be sure that this influence is always for good.

You have a natural head for business, but money-making doesn't particularly interest you. If, however, you thought that a fortune could be used to further some project very near to your heart, you would work very hard to get a lot of money. What you need is an incentive. Sometimes a marriage partner will supply that inspiration. JOHN CLARKE'S CASEBOOK

CANDID CAMERA

CAMERA-STUDY of Anthony would, if the photographer knew his business, show up his finely shaped head, and draw at-tention to his strong and regular features.

Seeing the finished study, you might suppose its subject to be a man of some distinction. A senior officer in the Army, perhaps, for the neatly clipped white moustache, the short, silver-grey hair, and the upright bearing suggest as much.
Or something important in the City, he might be, or an oldstyle member of the Foreign Service.

The stamp of success lies upon him still, though it is some years now since he was visited by success. His true calling is that of a West End photographer; but the last job he had was as a packer in a big store.

Anthony, who is 57 now, was born in Canada. He came here from there in good company with the army that came to fight in the 1914-18 war. He finished up as an official war photographer, and when peace came, decided to make his home in England and prac-

We do not know much of how he prospered, but by 1937, things were beginning to go badly with him, evidently, for in that year he committed his first crime; and in the 15 years since then he has committed 13 others, and several times been sent to prison.

The other morning Anthony climbed wearily into the dock at Great Marlborough Street to answer once again a -criminal charge against him. He pleaded guilty to stealing three scarves from a West End shop.

A policeman went into the witness-box and told the story to Mr Paul Bennett, VC, the magistrate. "Since he came out of prison last," the officer said, "I gather he's been trying to find work as a photographer. He would go round the various firms in the West End to see photograph evening functions: It's rather seasonal

You could understand Anthony's idea in sacrificing other things, like food, in order to live there. It would help in getting those jobs that were so hard to come by, if he could mention the good address. .

"He did get work as a packer, but he said he was strong enough to continue the officer went on. says that on the morning stole the scarves he left lodgings with only 10d, in the world, and that he was driven

Jimmy Carruthers, undefeated Australian bantamweight champion, will become the first Australian to win a world boxing title if he beats the South African title holder, Vic Toweel, at the Rand Stadium tomorrow night:

Few critics here believe Carruthers will win, but he has many supporters who think he is the one boxer capable of beating Toweel.

Carruthers and his manager, postponed when Toweel suffer-Billy McConnell, are both con- ed double vision as a result of fident of success.
